The Client

Theatr Clywd is a regional arts centre and producing theatre in North East Wales. It is home to Wales' major drama producing Theatre Company who stage their own productions throughout the year.

The Challenge

The Theatre is temporarily closed to the public and all events due to Covid-19. All performances and screenings both inside and outside the building have been cancelled, or postponed, subject to further advice from the government.

The Solution

Affinity installed a temperature screening system which can detect a person's core body temperature and also whether a mask is being worn or not.

Firstly this allows the Theatre to re-open and in turn offer a safe environment for both staff and clients to enter.

As above the system can identify if someone has an increased temperature and the absence of a mask. If either of these are identified the system will alert the member of staff who is in attendance viewing the camera footage.

The Feedback

"We are very happy with the service that Affinity provided and the temperature screening camera is a great tool to help us with the reopening of our Theatre."
